9. FAMILY TREES

Each family tree shows the reported children, parents, grandparents and great-grandparents of a family group. In order to reduce redundancy, any family group which is wholly included within another family tree may not be reported separately.

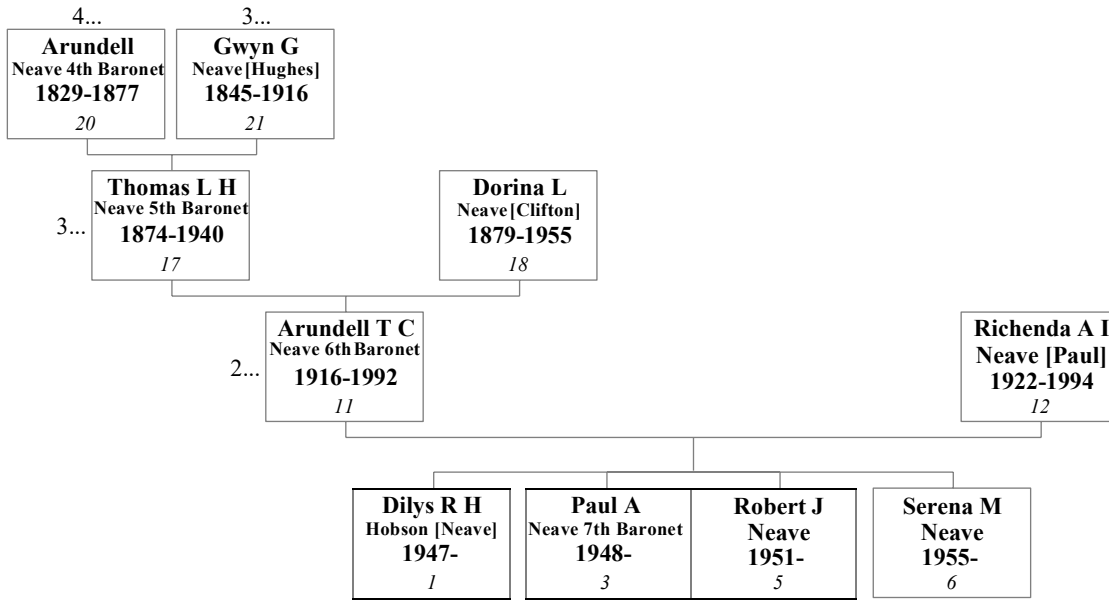

Above each of the great-grandparent boxes (top row), a continuation family tree reference number is shown if the great-grandparent is recorded as a child in the continuation tree. A continuation reference number is also shown to the left of a grandparent or parent box if that individual has siblings reported in the continuation tree; and beneath a child box (bottom row) if that individual has children reported in the continuation tree.

In cases of multiple marriages, a continuation reference number preceded by "=" is shown to the right of a parent box. This number references the previous and/or next tree in which that individual is shown with another partner.

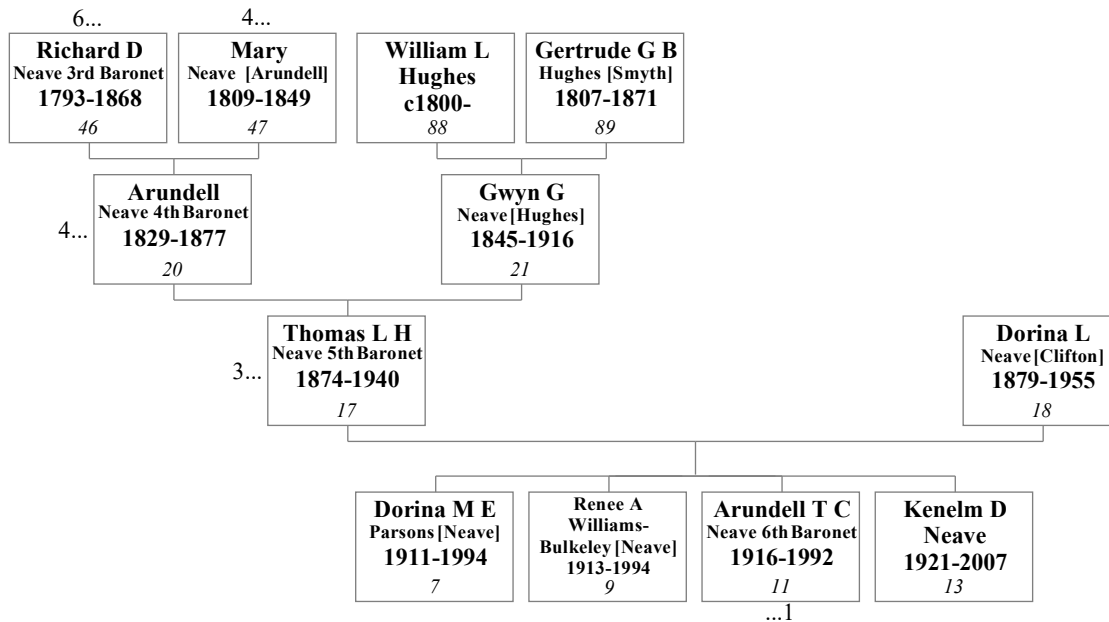

In cases of adopted (or fostered) children, the parental connection is shown with a dashed line and a continuation reference number preceded by "=" is shown within the individual's box. This number references the tree in which that individual is shown with his or her natural parents.

10. NOTES

1. Daughter and only child of Harold Digby Neave.
Applies to: Venetia M Neave¹⁴.
2. Mary didn't marry.
Applies to: Mary Gertrude Catherine Neave¹⁶.
3. Married her 2nd cousin.
Applies to: Mariquita Middleton [Neave] ²⁷.
4. Reginald was murdered in Colorado in 1874. He was stabbed (a knife was expertly thrown at him by all accounts) by a drunken fellow Englishman named Theodore D B Pryce. Pryce was sentenced to life imprisonment at the age of 30 for the murder but eventually, according to press reports, starved himself to death in the Canon City prison, Colorado at age 43. Mr. Pryce's brother was reported to be a Baronet (unproven, even doubtful) and his somehow influential family made many efforts, including those made with the British government reportedly, to have him freed but were very likely unsuccessful despite the rumours at the time. There was also speculation at the time that Theodore didn't actually die in prison and that he was freed somehow with apparently reliable witnesses stating that they'd seen him, free, long after his reported death and in London, England. Theodore Douglas Bulstrode Pryce was born in the 2nd quarter of 1846 in Frant in the parish of Ticehurst in Sussex and the address given in a census for the family was, "Delvidere". His wife, Dora Isabella (Beatson) was the daughter of the Governor of St. Helena, a British colony in the south Atlantic.
Applies to: Reginald Ednowain Neave³¹.
5. Sir Richard Digby Neave, the third baronet was born on the 9th of December 1793. Known as Digby Neave, he was the grandson of the first baronet, Sir Richard Neave and 1st son of the second baronet, Sir Thomas Neave. He was sheriff of Essex in 1821. He added to the estates Brick Kiln Farm in 1848 and Spice Pitts Farm in 1854. The Neaves were also in possession of Gidea Hall in 1849, where the widow of Sir Thomas Neave's youngest son, William Augustus Neave, was living at this time. Sir Thomas's wife, Frances Caroline, died in 1835, and, was buried in Noak Hill Church cemetery. Sir Digby married Mary Arundell on the 7th August 1828, youngest daughter of the 9th Baron Arundell of Wardour (d 30th August 1849) and had with other issue Arundell the 4th baronet. Sir Richard Digby Neave died 10th March 1868 leaving his eldest son Arundell as his heir.
Applies to: Richard Digby Neave 3rd Baronet⁴⁶.
6. THE Honorable Mary Neave, is daughter of the late Everard James, ninth Lord Arundel of Wardour, and Mary, third daughter of Robert Jones, Esq.
Mrs. Neave's descent and lineage, both in the paternal and maternal line, are in the highest degree ancient and illustrious. About the middle of the sixteenth century, Sir Thomas Arundell, her lineal ancestor, peculiarly distinguished himself against the Turks at the battle of Stregonium, where he served as a volunteer under the Emperor Rodolph II. For his valorous feats on that occasion he was created a Count of the Holy Roman Empire by patent, dated at Prague, December 14th, 1595, with limitation to each of his children and their descendants forever of both sexes. He was subsequently elevated to the peerage of England by King James I., on the 4th of May, 1605, with the title of Baron Arundell of Wardour. His honours descended in due course to the father of the lady who is the subject of the present necessarily brief notice.
By her mother's side Mrs. Neave claims a descent of very high antiquity in the annals of Great Britain, as deriving her lineage from the ancient house of Jones, of Holt, in Denbighshire, which traces its origin in a regular genealogical course up to Ednowain Bendew, son of Conan, and grandson of Gwaithvoed, Prince of Powis.
Mrs. Neave, then the Honourable Mary Arundell, was married to Richard Digby Neave, Esq., on the 7th of August, 1828. Mr. Neave, according to tradition, is descended from the ancient family of Le Neve of Norfolk; but in the early part of the seventeenth century, we find the branch from which this gentleman immediately springs possessed of considerable property in the counties of Suffolk and Essex. Sir Richard Neave, the first Baronet, became an eminent merchant of London, and was elected Governor of the Bank of England in 1780. He bore a conspicuous part in the mercantile transactions of that period, being one of the Commissioners of Public Accounts, a Director of the Hudson Bay Company, Chairman of the West India Merchants, and also of the Ramsgate Harbour Trusts.

His son and successor, Sir Thomas Neave of Dagnam Park, Essex, married Frances Caroline, daughter of the Rev. William Digby, Dean of Durham, and niece of the first Earl of Digby, of which marriage Mr. Richard Digby Neave is the eldest born and next in succession to the Baronetcy.
Applies to: Mary Neave [Arundell] ⁴⁷.
7. Charlotte didn't marry.
Applies to: Charlotte Maria Neave⁵².
8. John Bristow lived at Quidenham, Norfolk, England.
Applies to: John Bristow⁷⁸.
